Negotiating Rent

Natwest Blog

Whether you're apartment hunting and the perfect place is slightly out of your price range, or your landlord is raising the rent on your current apartment, you can negotiate your rent. It sounds intimidating, but with a little strategy, you just might win over the landlord. This blog has some ways you can go about negotiating your rent price: Read the blog from Natwest here

Tips From Urban Jungle

How to negotiate your rent with these simple tricks

No one enjoys paying rent. Every month a chunk of money is clawed out of your bank account, and it hurts. So, what if we said you might be able to save some money? - Read the article here

Housing Grants

Help you can get to improve your home

A local authority can offer different types of help with home improvements. It will have its own rules about the types of help it will offer, and about the conditions you must meet in order to qualify for help.

They can help you with energy efficiency or home improvements potentially. Click here to read more
